OUR CENOTE DIVING PHILOSOPHY

Under the Jungle believes that caverns are an advanced diving environment. To maximize your enjoyment and safety, we choose not to combine groups of divers who do not know each other. All cavern tours are 100% private - it's just you and your chosen buddies diving at your pace and comfort level. The maximum number of divers with a guide is four but we try to keep this ratio lower, and can always provide additional guides. We request that divers have a minimum of 20 logged dives before their first cavern dive, and that they have dived within the last six months.

WHAT'S INCLUDED?

- Two cavern dives
- Entrance fees (some cenotes have surcharges due to high entrance fees, these are listed below)
- Tanks with 32% nitrox, weights, and cavern lights
- Transportation from the dive center to the cenotes and back (pick up from lodgings between Playa del Carmen and Puerto Aventuras may be available as a courtesy, based on location, just let us know where you are staying).
- Lunch at a local restaurant
- * Gear rental $25 USD/set or $10 USD/piece
- * Porter service available for $30 USD/day
- * Camera/drone fees are additional for most sites, email for most current prices

WHAT DIVE SITES DO WE VISIT?

As we offer private service with no fixed schedule, divers may pick the dive sites they would like to visit, provided that the site is within their certification and skill level. Most sites are appropriate for open water certified divers, but a few will require advanced open water certification and a few sites cannot be done as a diver's first cavern dive, due to their difficult nature.
